What job i'm looking for? My positive points

I am a hardworking team member who is always striving to better himself through learning and gaining experience in my field. I am not limiting myself; I consider myself a versatile individual who is a fast learner. I am currently seeking employment in the mechanical engineering field specifically under fitting and turning with a trade test and a college NCV level 4 mechanical engineering qualification. Looking to add more experience to the 5 years I already have. Would appreciate an opportunity to add my qualities to any company that is looking to utilise my services. Thank you
