I'm looking for any kind of job that fits my prospects. I have data analysis and interpretation skills, quantitative reasoning, problem solving and critical thinking, statistical software proficiency, excellent Microsoft skills and communication and presentation skills. Though I don't have experience I'm looking forward to learning and becoming a team player as I am a fast learner and quick to adapt.

As an entry level candidate I am eager to grow and learn with the organisation and I'm confident that my skills will make me an ideal candidate for the role. Please consider my application and I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my skills would align with your organisations needs.
