What job i'm looking for? My positive points

I am looking for an entry-level position in customer service or administrative support. While I don't have formal work experience, I have developed strong communication and organizational skills through my volunteer work and group projects in school. I am very eager to learn and grow in a professional environment, and I recently completed a course in digital marketing, which has given me a foundational understanding of the field. I am open to any entry-level positions that will allow me to gain experience and contribute to a team.
