What job i'm looking for? My positive points

I am a graduate who finished last year at school, with a satisfactory behaviour. I know how to work under pressure and I truly understand the importance of working as a team so that I can be able to learn and teach. I am a socializing person. I prefer any kind of job (general jobs) that will teach me new things about the company and develop more experience. Being hired by this company will help it to produce productive results. As I am still an energetic youth who is willing to work and dedicated to impress my employers.
