What job i'm looking for? My positive points

To Whom It May Concern

I write with much interest in your newly posted Technical Facilities Manager for your company. I have all the qualifications and skills you seek, as well as have a love for your facility. For these reasons, I have included my resume for application.

I have been in IT Services and Support over 5 years, working in corporate environments in different business units supporting Engineers, Executives etc. As such I have gained extensive experience and can as a result work under pressure that comes with working at such complex places. Currently am on a contractual basis, as a result a permanent employment is a priority to me. .I am currently employed at Stretch, an onsite IT service provider to Vodacom SA in Port Elizabeth Eastern Cape, I have five years of experience in handling construction, repair, and maintenance work of any big and small facility regardless of the nature of work going there in. I have looked after all types of contracts for my employer, The knowledge I have acquired over the years has offered me the skills of preparing and implementing building codes for the clients as well as employer's interests.

I believe the necessary skills attained during the years in IT as well as my dedication, assertiveness, commitment and discipline put me in a good position to assume the responsibilities of this position with great confidence to positively contribute towards the achievement the company's' vision, mission and objectives.
