What job i'm looking for? My positive points

With a combination of 25 years of experience in security, management and Occupational Health and Safety, I am looking to apply my expertise in full blown management.

In terms of the above I have been through the mill. I know all aspects of security and loss prevention in the corporate retail and distribution worlds. I have worked in numerous industries. The scope of my projects have been mainly large scale and included supervising teams that used talent and tools to identify and rectify threat theft and vandalism and compliance. I understand management is about efficient planning and organisation finding the best ways to utilise resources without extending budgets.
